The City of Fremont has been updating the City's Pedestrian Master Plan, one of the primary documents in the implementation of the City's General Plan, Mobility Element chapter. The current adopted version was completed in 2007. The City's Consultant, Alta Planning and Design, will present the updated Draft Pedestrian Master Plan document and highlight key changes made in response to feedback received during the last public comment period and at the September 16, 2015 Bicycle Pedestrian Technical Advisory Committee (BPTAC) meeting. City Staff is recommending that the BPTAC approve the Draft Pedestrian Master Plan and recommend the Plan to the Recreation Commission for review and approval.
